Colin McNaught

- ▶ Colin has an engineering background and has held technical and managerial roles in the field of Medical Imaging (e.g. MRI systems).
- ▶ His interest in photography started in the 50s using his dad's Kodak bellows film camera and their darkroom (bathroom) and home-built enlarger.
- ▶ On Colin's retirement 15 years ago, his interest in photography was rekindled and he joined DPCA and purchased his first digital camera, an Olympus micro-4/3 EM-1.
- ▶ He and his wife Cheryl traveled extensively in their RV and produced a weekly photography travel blog.
- ▶ His main focus is travel/wildlife photography and they recently returned from a two week Safari in Africa and are planning trips to New Zealand and the Brazil Pantanal in '26 and '27.
- ▶ You can see some of his images on his website at maczeropix.com.
